

Developed Through Research

Creation Therapy is a Biblical counselling method based on the belief that man is a uniquely created being rather than the result of an evolutionary process. ("And God said; Let us make man in our image..." Gen. 1:26). This method was developed during seven years of research involving seven thousand (7,000) individuals who were seeking help for their problems. Conclusions based on research are that Creation Therapy is over ninety-five percent (95%) successful when administered by a person who has been trained in this Biblical counselling technique.

Why Creation Therapy Works

Creation Therapy works when other counselling methods fail. Why? Because rather than spending session after session in an attempt to correct "symptoms", the counsellor follows a step-by-step biblical- counselling-procedure developed to "target" the source of the problem(s).

Another reason why Creation Therapy works is because the counsellor provides the counsellee with a session-by-session plan so they will know, in advance, what to expect at each session. Providing the counsellee with a "plan of action" cuts down on cancellations because it removes the fear of the unknown. In addition, it provides an immediate sense of stability and renewed hope that "there is a plan – a course of action has been developed – everything is going to be okay."

Some of the Benefits

Lay persons and members of the clergy who take and complete the Creation Therapy course will:

- Learn what causes relationship conflicts and how to resolve them
- Learn the secrets of human behavior, from the Bible, and how God's wonderful plan works when understood and applied
- Learn a very successful five-step method for counselling those who turn to them for help
- Qualify to administer the Arno Profile System which identifies an individual's "inborn" temperament rather than their behavior. This information helps the counsellor identify their core problem and aid the counsellee in problem resolution. Open to pastors, those in ministry, parents, educators, elected officials, law enforcement, business owners and anyone needing to know how to help others more effectively.
